Sambonet - 1965 Vintage Quarzo Nero Frypans in Vintage Blu

1965 Vintage Quarzo Nero in Vintage Blu

On the back of the great success obtained in its launch year, 1965 Vintage now has new items and colours generated by Sambonet's ongoing attention to combining design with professional performance. For a kitchen with style and personality!

What's more, one of the trending hues of 2018 - Vintage Blu - joins the original grey, red, green and yellow colours to complete the 1965 Vintage range, creating a colour palette that suggestively describes their surroundings, with clear references to the charm and warmth of the past. The rich colour is available for the frying pan in four diameters (20, 24, 28 and 32 centimetres), and for the "Spadella" Wok (28 cm), ideal for tossing pasta in any recipe.

With its rivets and handle details in stainless steel and Bakelite, in its choice of colour and design, the Centro Stile Sambonet has brought back the flavour of beautiful things from yesteryear in an element of style that is simple yet attractive. If the design gives the collection a nostalgic feel, Sambonet's innovation and expertise – partly developed in the hotel and restaurant field – launch the entire collection into contemporary times. The next-generation "Quarzo Nero" coating combines the heat conductivity of its thermal diffusion base with professional cooking performance. This formula, using high mineral content particles in the non-stick double layer makes the cooking surface incredibly smooth, scratch-proof and extremely resistant to high temperatures, the result of a technology wholly 'made in Italy'. The result is efficient and healthy cooking through the judicious use of necessary oils.

Colour and functions to experience every day, marked by the Sambonet style.
