Into the Jungle: A botanical adventure with Rosenthal meets Versace and Sambonet

With lush greenery, vibrant colours and exotic animals, the jungle introduces us to the unknown. Just in the spirit of the Urban Jungle, original combinations can now also be created on the dinner table. The extravagant décor motifs by Rosenthal meets Versace take us on a fascinating journey of discovery with any dining session. Floral and organic Sambonet designs bring serenity and balance to the home.

Rosenthal meets Versace - Versace Jungle Animalier

The exquisite porcelain collection fuses the iconic Jungle print with animalier patterns and heritage Medusa accents. Drawing inspiration from the legendary design famously reprised on the Versace Spring-Summer 2020 runway and the book "South Beach Stories", an iconic photographic book by the Versace family, the "Jungle Animalier" line refreshes tableware in a vivid colour palette. Crafted in exceptional quality porcelain, the collection encompasses a range of plates, coffee and tea sets, an array of vases and decorative home accents.

Sambonet - Kyma Florilegium

An exclusive series of Rosenthal for Sambonet porcelain plates. The "Kyma" collection, designed by designer Serena Confalonieri, is renewed thanks to the distinctive taste and poetic sign of the Italian designer Vito Nesta, who reinterprets the most refined and sophisticated trends of fabric and wallpaper decorations.

In "Florilegium" an alternation of leaves and flowers weave four elegant patterns, suggesting new plaque locations inside the home. The beauty of this botanical anthology takes on the decorative value of a painting or tapestry, combining modernity and refinement, typical of an industrial design project developed by Sambonet and Rosenthal. Made and decorated in the facilities in Germany, the plaques are designed to match with "Kyma" and they are available in four shapes with hexagonal, octagonal, square, and rectangular bases.

Gianni Cinti x Sambonet - Jungle

"Jungle" is a visually random interweaving of natural elements, leaves, abstract signs and shapes. It's only by bringing fork, spoon and knife together that the asymmetrical graphism of Jungle conceived by the Italian designer Gianni Cinti is composed. The new Sambonet cutlery tells a unique story of decorations that, beyond the surface, invites us to calm, to reflect, to enjoy slow living, even at the table.

Through the collaboration with Gianni Cinti, a sophisticated stainless steel cutlery collection has been created as an eclectic mix of art, fashion and design. "Jungle" masterfully combines all the cutlery pieces into an organic entity. The foliage pattern, with stylish 1950s references, was designed and conceived as a whole, then deconstructed and separately reassembled on the fork, spoon, and knife. These functional and lasting pieces are finely decorated on both sides with a romantic pattern, combining an emotional and a tactile experience. In addition to the stainless-steel version, Sambonet

Sambonet - Bamboo

Designed by the Centro Stile Sambonet, Bamboo flatware has a characteristic oval section that, in a modern and contemporary key, repropose the organic design in full style of the 40s. A timeless shape that already comes in the stainless steel, silver-plated versions or with the polished PVD Copper finish, is available in PVD colours: Black, Gold and Champagne. The collection's basic design is embellished by a stand-out visual impact, in line with trendy aesthetic trends of the tableware sector. Perfect for special occasions or for place settings brimming with personality, the "Bamboo" flatware adds a touch of style to every table setting, giving a table light and value!
